

4th American Hydrogen Forum and Trade Show

The 4th American Hydrogen Forum and trade show was attended by over 500 global professionals, including representatives from Yosemite Clean Energy. While Yosemite is currently focused on H2 production and utilization within California, the conference demonstrated that H2 is growing rapidly across the USA for a myriad of uses, and that many state and federal leaders are looking to utilize H2 as a key driver to meet climate action goals and bring states to net-zero emissions. There are clear plans for national-scale H2 markets using the interstate highway system, but also for H2 use in the rail, marine, and aviation industries, showing that H2 will become a main driver in the energy transition in future. Yosemite Clean Energy is looking forward to playing its part in this transition, in both California and beyond.
